NEBRASKA WALK FOR LIFE

Saturday, January 18, 2020

LINCOLN, State Capitol & UN-L Student Union

The Walk begins at 10 a.m. at the State Capitol. From there, we will walk to the UN-L Student Union, where our Keynote Speakers, Jennifer and Jeff Christie, will speak at noon.

Keynote Speakers:
JENNIFER CHRISTIE
with her husband, JEFF

But what about cases of rape? This is often asked by abortion advocates. Jennifer Christie was raped on a business trip, learning she was pregnant as she recovered from the attack. Against the advice of doctors, friends and society, she decided to keep her child. Her story reminds us that God brings healing from pain, and children are part of the journey to recovery, not an obstacle for mothers to overcome. "I am not raising a 'rapist's baby,'" Jennifer said. "I am raising my baby. He is the love that I pour into him. He is the love of my husband who is raising him, siblings who play with him and grandparents who dote on him. He is all of these things and more." Is he a reminder? Yes, he's a reminder that women can be stronger than their circumstances. He's also a reminder that beauty can come from darkness.

Join the largest, longest-running
First Amendment demonstration against abortion in the State!

Brief program at Capitol, 14th and K Streets, 10 a.m., then walk seven blocks to indoor venue at UN-L Student Union, 14th and R Streets, for Keynote Speech (about noon), pro-life info tables, food and drink.

Parking is available east, south and west of Capitol. Pay parking is available downtown at garages and meters.

Baked goods accepted at the south side of Student Union after 8 a.m. Jan. 18 and prior days by arrangement with NRL.

Dress warmly and bring the family to this peaceful, legal pro-life witness, which is in its 46th year.

Central Nebraska pro-lifers picket a Planned Parenthood meeting in Grand Island in November. There were 40 people standing vigil and only about 20 who attended the meeting.

CENTRAL NEBRASKANS STAND AGAINST PLANNED PARENTHOOD

Central Nebraskan pro-lifers gathered in downtown Grand Island Nov. 21 to peacefully protest a Planned Parenthood Advocates of America open house event. The 40 protesters nearly doubled the number of attendees.

In addition to the open house, PP hosted a Tri-Cities Summit the following day to learn about “policy issues impacting our community” and their “vision for the Tri-Cities,” according to a Facebook event description.

PP is the nation’s largest abortion business, performing 321,384 abortions in 2016 and more than 1.6 million over the past five years, according to annual reports. In addition, PP performs well more than half of the abortions in Nebraska, both surgical and chemical.

“We oppose the presence of the abortion industry in our area,” said Amanda Frasier, South Central Nebraska Right to Life President. “Our counties are absolutely not interested in the vision of a business that profits from the death of children and wounding of women.”

“Women need love and support when they are facing unexpected pregnancies; and our medical community, churches, families and volunteers at pregnancy resource centers are committed to providing care for them in unexpected situations,” said Andrea Mack, Grand Island Right to Life Treasurer.

Many health care options already exist for women in Central Nebraska. These include pregnancy tests, STD screenings and other woman-focused health care, often at no or greatly reduced cost.

St. Mary’s Cathedral hosted a daylong prayer service, including Eucharistic Adoration, on Nov. 22, with the Most Rev. Joseph Hanefeldt, Bishop of Grand Island, presiding. Parishioners prayed to end abortion and to stop the presence of PP from entering the Tri-Cities area.
